Empathy Map Canvas:

Ethan Hunt – A mid-level real estate analyst working for a property consulting firm, who frequently needs to present clear and insightful visualizations of market data to clients and stakeholders.

To design a meaningful visualization solution, we must step into the shoes of our user — understanding their needs, behaviors, and frustrations. This empathy map will help our team grasp what matters most to Ethan Hunt, a real estate analyst relying on data to make informed property decisions and communicate trends effectively

Says
What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?
I need to show clear market trends fast.
Too much raw data overwhelms them.
Clients want simple, impactful visuals.
Thinks
What are their wants, needs, hopes, and dreams?
What other thoughts might influence their behavior?
How can I make data more client-friendly
This tool must save me time, not add work.
How do I simplify complex housing data?
